LOCAL HOME BROKEN BY DEATH OF BROTHERS

William E. and D. B Cox Victims of Accidents.

FATHER SERIOUSLY ILL

Sad indeed is the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cox, on Pine street, Bellefonte. News of the death of two of their sons on Tuesday morning, both victims of accidents, added to the fact that Mr. Cox, who was janitor at the local Y. M. C. A. for a long time but has been suffering from rheumatism for months, is still seriously ill, has grieved this home beyond the limit of description.

William Edward Cox, of Tyrone, one of the brothers who was employed by the Pennsylvania railroad company as a brakeman, died in the Altoona hospital at 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning. He was thrown from a car when his brakestick broke while cars were being shifted in the Tyrone yards, about three weeks ago. Both legs were injured, the left one so seriously that it was necessary to amputate it. For a time it seemed that he would recover. Then blood poisoning developed and all efforts to save him proved futile.

David Boyd Cox was engaged in plumbing work on the large new electric plant being erected at Seward, where he resided. He had a contract and was at work at the building on Tuesday morning, when he was fatally injured in a peculiar accident, according to the message received by the parents and a daughter, in Bellefonte. The card stated that he died in a short time after the accident occurred but it gave no details of the misfortune.

The deceased brothers were sons of William and Sarah Cox and were both born at Coleville, where they grew to manhood. They were well known in this section of the county.

William C. had resided in Tyrone for the past ten years. He was 48 years old and was married to Susan Rager, formerly of Milesburg, who survives with the following children: Conrad and Mrs. Alonzo Miller, of Tyrone; Gilbert, Sarah, Florence, Madeline, Betty and Janet, all at home. Burial will be made at Tyrone on Friday afternoon.

David Boyd Cox was 40 years old and is survived by his widow, whose maiden name was Jessie Reigh, of Pittsburgh, and three children: Mrs. Frank Hull, of Bellefonte; Chester and Robert, at home. Interment at Seward.

Beside the families, the deceased are survived by their parents and one brother, Harry G., of Bellefonte.

DIED FROM INJURIES

George Fultz, of Axe Mann, Struck on Head by Stone.

While at work in the White Rock quarries at Pleasant Gap on Wednesday morning, about 11:30 o'clock, George Fultz, of Axe Mann, was struck on the head with a large stone and seriously injured. He died last night about 10.30 o'clock.

Mr. Fultz was hurried to the local hospital where it was found he had sustained a fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. His condition remained very doubtful from the time he was admitted and little hope was entertained for his recovery.

He went to work at the White Rock quarries on March 6th and was employed in a capacity known as a contractor, loading stone at the time he was hurt. It is believed that thawing along the sides of the quarry caused several stone to loosen unexpectedly and that he was thus caught. It is said that the quarry had just been inspected for safety and was considered all right before the men went to work yesterday morning. The deceased was about 35 years old, is married and has three children.

To Permit Shooting Does.

The proposed game code, originally prepared by the State Game Commission but changed in most of its vital features since being introduced in the Legislature, was amended this week to permit killing does for three days following the close of the regular hunting season. It is not proposed that does may be killed in all parts of the State but only in "sections where they are too numerous." Such sections are to be designated by the State Game Commission. For some time past many farmers have been claiming that does have become so numerous that they cause damage to crops. Should the Legislature approve the amendment it is entirely probable that some parts of Centre County would be included in the sections in which does may be killed legally.

A THREATENING FIRE

Two Cars and Elks Garage Damaged Monday Evening.

In the height of the cold, strong wind which swept over this section from the northeast on Monday evening, at 9 o'clock, heavy clouds of smoke sweeping over the Brockerhoff House in Bellefonte caused much uneasiness lest a very important business section of the town should be wiped out by a destructive blaze.

The fire alarm was out of service, as it has been for weeks, making it difficult to get the firemen together. However, both the Logan and Undine fire companies responded with their triple combination pumpers and, by quick work, kept the blaze confined to the one small building, thus keeping the loss at a minimum.

An International truck, used by Harry Winton & Son, in their coal business, and a 7-passenger touring car, the property of Harry Mann, were considerably damaged. The building was slightly damaged. Valiant and successful efforts were made to keep the flames from the gasoline storage tank. Lawyer W. D. Zerby's touring car was badly scorched and the top ruined. A car owned by Eddie Zorn was also scorched. No insurance was carried on any of the cars. It is believed the fire was caused by a short circuit in the storage battery in one of the machines.

This was an instance that emphasized the wisdom of Council in making the purchase of the modern fire fighting equipment. Handicapped with the old equipment, it very likely would have been a costly blaze.

Banquet on Third Anniversary.

The banquet given by the proprietors of the Bellefonte Hardware Co. to their employes and guests at Hecla Park on Tuesday evening was one of the most delightful affairs held at the Nittany Country club this season. A delicious chicken dinner was served. Those who were present included: Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Murtorff, M. W. Williams, Ralph K. Owens, Otto Corman, Misses Louise Knisely, Hazel Johnson, owners and employes of the store, with the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Van Jodon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schlow, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Mabus, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Robb, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coble, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Marks, F. H. Hollingshead, (of Philadelphia) J. E. Williams, Misses Helen Robb and Mary Olive Resides. J. K. Johnston presided as toastmaster and responses were made by Charles Schlow, N. E. Robb, J. E. Williams, E. R. Owens H. G. Murtorff and M. W. Williams. Cards and dancing helped make a very pleasant social evening. The Bellefonte Hardware Co., under the active and efficient management of Messrs. Owens, Murtorff and Williams, has made marked progress in the three years since it was started, the banquet being an annual event in observing the anniversaries of the business.

Undines Banquet.

Members of the Undine Hose Co., of Bellefonte, held their 25th birthday anniversary banquet on last Friday evening at the hose house on Bishop St. About 50 members were in attendance. Music was furnished by the American Legion orchestra. P. H. Gherrity, president of the Undine Hose Co., was toastmaster on this memorable occasion. Responses were made by Col. H. S. Taylor, John G. Love, Esq., and Wm. H. Doll.

Collided with Fire Plug.

Two young men in a Ford coupe owned by the Jersey Shore Electric Co., while in Bellefonte on Sunday evening collided with a fire plug while driving on East Howard St. The front of the car was considerably damaged, the radius rod broken, the axle bent and wheels put out of place. The young men escaped injury. The car was towed to the Beatty Motor Co. garage for repairs.

Fire at Coleville.

The Logan Hose Co. triple combination pumper was taken to Coleville on Monday afternoon about 2:30 in response to a call for aid. The residence occupied by Fred Billet and family, near the school house, was threatened by a fine fire. The firemen reached the scene promptly, however, and got the blaze extinguished with little loss.

Auto Wrecked on Culvert.

A Ford car driven by J. E. Jackson, of Lemont, came to grief on Sunday on a concrete culvert along the state road just south of Bellefonte. The car struck an abutment of the culvert and was towed to the Beatty Motor Co. garage for repairs. Mr. Jackson was fortunate in escaping injury.

HELD ROAD SUPERVISOR RESPONSIBLE FOR ROADS

Potter Twp. Supervisor Fined $25 and Costs.

MUST PAY FOR NEGLECT

Road supervisors are responsible for the roads within their districts and this was emphasized in a very interesting hearing before J. M. Keichline, justice of the peace, at his office in Bellefonte, on Saturday morning. The defendants were William Curry, William Jordan and Christ Durst, of Potter Twp. The complaint was made by T. F. Royer.

Mr. Royer, in the information, stated the condition of the pike through Georges Valley to the Potter Twp. line was in a dangerous condition, made so by rocks of all sizes up to 100 pounds each; that by reason of such condition he had to shoot a horse which broke its leg while he was driving over the road; and further, the soles on his sled were broken by the roughness of the road.

About 20 witnesses offered testimony at the hearing. It was shown Potter Twp. is divided into three districts and a supervisor is responsible for each district. Messrs. Curry and Jordan contended they knew nothing of the condition of the road in that part of the township, which was under care of Mr. Durst. Justice Keichline then discharged Messrs. Curry and Jordan as there was no evidence upon which to hold them.

The testimony showed the road in question had been made unfit for travel by the large stones on it and other persons had been put to disadvantage through its condition. The attorney for the defendants argued that the district did not have sufficient funds to properly repair the road, but this was not considered as a fitting excuse for permitting the road to remain in a dangerous condition. Mr. Durst was therefore fined $25 and costs of prosecution.

PHILIPSBURG SPECIAL HIT CAR

Fred Switzer, of Tyrone, Had a Narrow Escape.

The special train from Philipsburg which brought the basket ball team of the Philipsburg High school to Bellefonte to play a scheduled game with the Bellefonte High team, struck the Ford car of Fred Switzer, of Tyrone, and the young motorist was given a close call.

The train was returning to Philipsburg. In Tyrone, at a crossing near the siding of the Tyrone Fuel & Supply Co. yard, the Ford car was caused to run along the tracks, which are exposed, and the occupants of the car saw the approaching special bearing down upon the Ford.

They did not trust the safety of the car, even if it was a Ford with the well-known reputation of habitually coming out of accidents little the worse. They leaped just in time.

The special train struck the car with such force that the entire left side was demolished completely.

Plan for Another Dormitory.

Committees completed preliminary work last Friday for putting on a schedule whereby the Pennsylvania State Grange will secure funds and erect a girls' dormitory on the Holmes field at State College as a part of the College emergency building fund campaign. The proposed building will be the head of the girls' dormitory group just as the Varsity Hall is to be the head of the men's group. It is to be erected in 1924.

Plan Big Time for July 4.

Modern Woodmen of America, State College camp, have started plans for a big celebration on July 4. They were given the recent state award, a large banner, for the largest number of members adopted in 1922. The State College camp admitted 99 beneficial and 2 social members.

Auditors Finish Task.

The county auditors—Messrs. Clement Gramley, of Rebersburg; H. H. Stover, of Smullton, and Thomas A. Pletcher, of Howard—completed their work this week and the Auditors' Statement was given into the hands of the printers for publication.

Named Acting Postmaster.

Clement H. Gramley has been appointed acting postmaster at Rebersburg. Mr. Gramley has served efficiently as a County Auditor for the past eight years. He is capable, courteous and obliging and is well qualified for his new position.

PLANS OF EVANGELICALS BROUGHT BEFORE COUNCIL

Conference Voted Money for Local Church Development.

WILL START THIS YEAR

The plans of the United Evangelical congregation to develop their church property into a modern church plant became known this week when a request was made before Council on Monday evening to purchase the half-lot adjoining the present church property on Willowbank St. and west of Logan's Branch.

The trustees of the church, accompanied by the pastor, Rev. Reed O. Steeley, with S. D. Gettig, Esq., as spokesman for the church, presented their plans to Council in giving reasons why the half-lot should be sold to the church at a reasonable price. Rev. Steeley went to Williamsport on Tuesday and has been in that city furthering definite action toward the development as planned.

The church architect is expected here in the very near future to consider the plot and make drawings to lead toward beautifying the property surroundings and for the erection of a new Sunday school building. This building, it is proposed to complete this summer.

Mr. Gettig, before Council, in part said:

"We have the money to go ahead. The Valentine property has been abandoned, for what reasons need not be mentioned. But the Local Evangelical church has grown so fast present accommodations are not adequate. We must get ahead. The people said we did not have the money, but conference voted the money for the work and we are going to develop the present church property into a modern church. We cannot do this in one year, but will expect to complete the Sunday School room this year. The auditorium and changes in the church will come later. We want this half lot, which seems of no particular use to the borough, to beautify the surroundings. We want it to protect ourselves and our property. We think Council should sell the plot to us at a reasonable price."

INTER-COUNTY BRIDGE REPAIRS

Contract Given to Harry Bilger, of Pleasant Gap, for $3,326.

Harry Bilger, of Pleasant Gap, was awarded the contract for making repairs to the inter-county bridge which spans Beech Creek between Centre and Clinton Counties. Mr. Bilger's bid was $3,328.

Repairs to the bridge include replacing the plank floor with a creosote wood block floor, placing new steel guard rails on the bridge and painting the structure. The contract was awarded at a joint meeting of the commissioners of Clinton and Centre Counties in the Court House in Bellefonte on Friday.

Seven bids were received. Tom Reese & Co., of Coudersport, was next to Mr. Bilger, their price being $3,444. The highest bid was made by G. S. Boone, of Logan ton. It was $5,009.

Mr. Bilger plans to start work on the improvements within a few weeks. It will be necessary to close the bridge for a short time, perhaps a week, while the new floor is being laid. This will necessitate a short detour. It is said these repairs will put the bridge in good shape for a number of years.

Dismissed Case.

In the case in which John Burkholder was charged with killing deer out of season, it being averred his dog had been seen racing the deer, Justice of the Peace Kline Woodring, of Bellefonte, last Thursday, dismissed the defendant. Burkholder had previously paid costs and a fine of $5 on another charge of harboring a dog that was not licensed according to law.

Raided Kachik's Hotel.

Several prohibition agents from the Punxsutawney headquarters last week made a raid on John Kachik's hotel in Clarence. They confiscated a number of cases of Horke Vino, said to be a cordial containing an indefinite alcoholic content, and 2 half-barrels of near beer. The articles were taken away by the officers for chemical analysis.

Lowry Justice Injured.

Lowry Justice, father of Daley Justice, of Coleville, fell on Wednesday morning while he was going to work and severely injured one of his knees. He was taken to the Bellefonte hospital. His knee-cap was cracked and the injury has caused him much suffering.

BUSINESS BEFORE COUNCIL

Coleville Residents Ask for New Water Line.

Chas. F. Cook, Charles Saxion and Roy Yarnell, were at Council at the regular session on Monday evening to represent the property owners on East High St., who have had before the Council a petition for a sewer line through East Pike alley. Mr. Cook was spokesman. He said the property owners considered the proposition that each pay at the rate of 25 cents per foot toward the construction according to the frontage of their lots, was deemed unfair inasmuch as the frontage of the lots varied; some being 25, others as much as 75 feet. He submitted a proposition signed by 9 of the owners that each would pay $10 toward the construction cost and 11 others, when they tapped, would pay $10 each, making a total of $200. This would be approximately half the cost of the sewer line and was considered favorably, providing the payment of the taps should be made now instead of waiting until the owners were ready to tap. The matter, in this form, was referred to the street committee and borough manager to interview the property owners and report at the next meeting.

James Snyder was present and asked that Council authorize laying of a sewer line of approximately 90 feet in the alley from the Brooks properties on East Lamb St. to Linn St. He explained this is really a repair and he would furnish the pipe, 90 feet of 5-inch iron pipe, which should become the property of the borough. This was considered fair and accepted.

S. D. Gettig, Esq., in behalf of the trustees and pastor of the Evangelical church, asked for a price on the vacant half-lot west of Logan's Branch, owned by the borough. This was referred to the street and water committees. Rev. Reed O. Steely, the pastor, and the following trustees: Willis Grove, E. J. Teaman, Edward Young, Howard Stover and S. D. Gettig, were present.

There were no written communications.

The report of the street committee was read by Thomas Hazel.

The water committee reported $24 collected on 1921 duplicate. Also, that 13 names out of the borough and 3 in the borough, of residents who had tapped on the Half Moon hill water line, were given to Wm. T. Kelly, clerk, and all had been billed with water tax dating from Jan. 1, 1923.

J. M. Cunningham said a number of Coleville citizens had been after him to arrange for putting a new water line to their homes via the Amos Garbrick property. "There would be 15 or more families, I am told, who would tap this line. Charles Morris is also back of this. They will soon need more water at their upper mill at the hydrating plant and this would be served. Mr. Morris said they would have water put in the 9 double houses they have purchased, which would be 18 more taps. They would build their line to meet ours at the borough limits. We would have to build 1,180 feet of line at a cost roughly estimated at $1,000. The net revenue would be about $300 per year," said Mr. Cunningham. No definite action was taken, but members of Council expressed themselves as favorable to such a proposition.

The fire and police committee reported 2 fires—one on the 11th at the George Ingram property and one on the 19th at the Fred Billet property.

The finance committee reported notes with a total of $22,000 as due. Renewal and payment of interest was authorized.

Base Ball Outlook Good.

The outlook for the base ball season looks good to local boosters. The Bellefonte Base Ball Asso. met on Monday evening and selected a board of directors as follows: George Hazel, Orin Kline, Harry Walkey, William Brouse, Wilson I. Fleming and A. Linn McGinley. There have been printed 1,000 subscription tickets to finance the association program and these will be presented to the public by a committee selected at the meeting this week. Earl Kline was elected manager.

Predict Big Dry Shake-up.

Federal Prohibition Director Haynes, of Washington, announced yesterday that he will hold a conference on Monday in Philadelphia with enforcement chiefs from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. A big shake-up in the personnel and duties of dry forces is predicted.

Vegetable Seeds.

The flower seeds sent to "The Republican" by Congressmen Evan Jones, for free distribution, have all been taken. There are still some packages of garden seeds which will be distributed to our readers while they last.

PLEASANT GAP FAMILY HOMELESS AFTER FIRE

Freeman Baird House and Contents Destroyed.

NEIGHBORS GIVE AID

The Freeman Baird family, parents and 7 children, who resided near the H. J. Markle property, in their own home in Pleasant Gap, were literally burned out of house and home on Tuesday morning. The loss is keenly felt as no insurance was carried.

Mr. Baird was at work when the flames were first discovered. Mrs. Baird had just finished sweeping the house and threw the sweepings into the kitchen range. A little later she went for wood and saw smoke coming from the top of the house. It is presumed the fire started from an overheated stove.

By the time help arrived the structure was doomed, as the blaze had made marked headway when discovered. Nothing in the house on the second floor could be saved and bedding, with all clothing except what the family was wearing, was destroyed. The flames spread so rapidly that very little could be gotten from the first floor to safety.

The loss has left the family in poor circumstances. Mr. Baird is employed by the White Rock quarries. Neighbors have kindly aided the family by caring for the parents and children, although it breaks the family into sections. Those who have clothing to spare have also kindly helped. The family will still appreciate any further aid given them.

OFFER TAX CODE

Bill at Harrisburg Would Centralize System of Assessments.

There was introduced in the Legislature at Harrisburg yesterday a tax code to revise the methods of assessing and collecting taxes, which if adopted would revolutionize the present system. A centralized system is proposed for assessment and collection of county, city, borough, township, school and poor taxes.

The plan submitted would establish in each county a board of county assessors to take over the duties of county commissioners relative to assessments and revision. Such boards, however, would have no control over levies. Salaries of members of boards would range from $2,000 to $5,000. Members would be appointed by county commissioners with approval of the court. In seventh and eighth class counties the work would be performed by county commissioners who would receive from $200 to $300 extra pay.

Some of the striking features of the proposed code follow: Revisions made and appeals heard before Nov. 30; valuations to be certified not later than Dec. 1; levies to be made between Dec. 1 and Jan. 1, annually and not triennially; notices to taxables to be mailed not later than last day of February; taxes to be payable in two installments, not later than May 1 and Oct. 1; no rebates, but penalty of 1% for delinquents, returns of delinquents to be made not later than first Monday in January, and county treasurer's sales for delinquent taxes second Monday in June.

SUPERVISORS IN QUANDARY

Liberty Township Officials Have Flood Problem to Solve.

Liberty Twp. supervisors realize they must safeguard the interests of the taxpayers in their district insofar as maintenance of roads is concerned. Since the recent floods, when high water in Marsh Creek washed away a structure known as the Old Bowes bridge and also carried away 700 feet of the highway in that section, near Romola, they have learned their new work must conform to certain legal specifications which has placed them in a quandary.

One of two things must be done. Either project, under the requirements of the law, is expensive. Much time will also be required as, it is said, the legal processes which must be conformed to, will take 6 to 8 months of court procedure before actual work may be started.

To replace the bridge would cost several thousands of dollars. It is said the township cannot afford this cost. The state highway district engineer for townships, after considering the matter, advised the road line be changed for a distance of about two-fifths of a mile, thus eliminating the bridge. It is apparent the persons who used that section of road will be inconvenienced for some time.

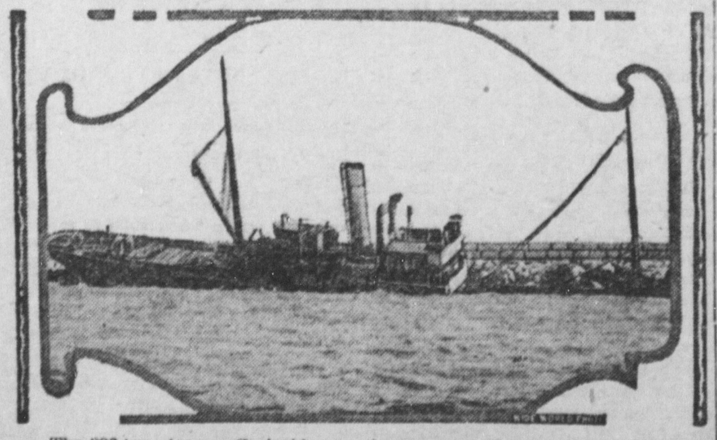
Home Folks Greet "Uncle Joe"

"I am just plain citizen Joe Cannon, now back in my home town, to spend the balance of my days with my folks," declared Uncle Joe Cannon upon his arrival home at Danville, Ill. The picture shows Uncle Joe being greeted by some of his neighbors at his home.

Steamer Wrecked on Breakwater



The 226-ton steamer Craigside was thrown on the breakwater at Portland, Me., and wrecked during a fierce gale. The crew was rescued by the heroic action of a seaman, who swam out to the wreck with a life line. The photograph shows the steamer just before it turned turtle and sank.

Theatrical Folk Generous.

The proverbial generosity of persons in the theatrical world was proved concretely the other night by an incident that took place near the stage entrance of a downtown theater. A crippled man stood hat in hand, offering nothing for sale and more than 90 per cent of the persons in the show stopped and gave him some sort of contribution. Not one woman in the show was seen to pass the cripple without giving him something.

One young woman said, as she gave the unfortunate man a bill: "I'm sorry I haven't more. At times, I, too, have felt that the world was all wrong and that there wasn't any use to try, but persons always helped me, and who knows, you may be giving me some sort of assistance some day when I need it even worse than you do now."—Exchange.

ONE-QUARTER MILLION IDLE

Director National Americanism Commission of Legion Cites Condition in United States.

More than a quarter of a million workmen are unemployed in the United States, according to a recent survey conducted by Garland W. Powell, director of the national Americanism commission of the American Legion.

G. W. Powell.

Mr. Powell states that his unemployment figures were based on questionnaires addressed to all state chambers of commerce and to state officials of Legion.

"The results of this census directly refutes many arguments in favor of lowering the bars against alien immigration this year," said Powell. "There is an organized movement afoot among certain employing interests to repeal the present 3 per cent act for limiting immigration, on the plea of a scarcity of labor. The American Legion wants to bring the true condition of affairs before the country. We are not alarmists, but we do not feel that the true business interests of the country will be forwarded by bringing in all the cheap foreign labor that Europe can supply. We want to see American industries manned by American labor at a living wage."

Powell declared that he could bring forward statistics to prove that in the coal industry alone, three miners were struggling to make a living on work enough for just two.

"The American Legion is pro-American," said Powell. "We are absolutely neutral in economic disputes, because our membership is made up from all sorts of occupations, employers and laborers alike. But we feel it our duty to warn the American people, that the population of this country is already one-third foreign by birth or extraction. Unrestricted immigration would Europeanize this country in five years more. That is a condition we do not desire."

SUES FOR WAR CHEST FUNDS

Commander of Ohio Legion Department Seeks to Gain Control of Contributions.

War chest funds collected for service men of the World war belong to the American Legion since it is the one all-inclusive veterans' organization, according to Gilbert R. Bettman of Cincinnati, commander of the Ohio department of the American Legion.

G. R. Bettman.

Acting on this belief, Mr. Bettman has instigated civil suits in an endeavor to obtain a court ruling granting the residue of war chest funds to the Legion.

His most remarkable victory was the recent ruling of the Ohio Court of Appeals, awarding a fund of $115,000, collected during the war to supply comforts for the men of the Eighty-third division, to the Legion.

The court ruled that the Legion is the one representative organization of veterans of the World war and that comforts belonging to the men who served should come properly to them in their present organization. "As the G. A. R. is to the Civil war, so the American Legion is and will be the outstanding military organization representing the ex-soldiers of the World war," the opinion of the court stated.

Mr. Bettman has started a membership campaign in Ohio with a goal of 60,000 Legionnaires. Ohio posts will have exceptional inducements to beat the bushes for new members, since the war chest fund awarded by the Court of Appeals will be distributed among the posts on a basis of membership on July 1.

The Ohio Legion head was a warm personal friend of the late F. W. Galbraith, Jr., and is chairman of a Legion committee which will erect a $25,000 memorial to the former Legion leader on a cliff overlooking the Ohio river near Cincinnati.

Legion Chair to Be Endowed.

An American Legion chair of American history and patriotism is to be endowed at Pacific university, Forest Grove, Ore., for which purpose $50,000 now is being raised. Since the close of the war, Pacific university has been granting ex-service men free tuition as an inducement to acquire a college education. To aid its program, the Legion chair of patriotism was launched "to the end that the ideas and ideal of our forefathers may still abide; to the end that the heroic service and sacrifices of the Legion men be perpetuated in the lives of those who will enter the doors of Pacific university."

PLAN RELIEF FOR DISABLED

American Legion Asks for Sixteen Changes in the War Risk Insurance Law.

Substantial relief will be given by congress to disabled veterans of the World war, should amendments to the war risk insurance act, requested by Joe Sparks, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, be enacted into law.

Joe Sparks.

The Legion asks for 16 changes in the law, in order that veterans disabled as a result of their war service, not now receiving relief from the government, may be cared for by law.

Amendments to the war risk insurance act requested by the Legion at a recent hearing follow:

1. That if the insurance of a neuro-psychiatric patient of the veterans' bureau has lapsed and he has not had a guardian appointed by court, that the director of the United States veterans' bureau be directed to reinstate his insurance and continue it in force.
2. To prevent the examiners of the veterans' bureau from using their judgment as to whether a man's disability is of service origin when this disability was not noted at the time of his enrollment for service.
3. The word "pulmonary" be stricken from the law so that service men suffering from tuberculosis of the glands or bone may become compensable.
4. That the period of separation from active service during which an ex-service man would be considered to have contracted tuberculosis automatically from service be extended to five years from the present period of two years following discharge.
5. That the provision limiting to two years a man's automatic service connection when suffering from a neuro-psychiatric disease, be automatically extended to five years.
6. That burial expenses of $100 be amended to provide for $200, transportation of the body and burial, and that this be extended to claimants of the bureau who die in institutions under the jurisdiction of the bureau, although they have not been declared compensable.
7. That where a disabled veteran has been an inmate of a hospital or asylum during a continual period of one year or more or where such person has been rated as totally disabled or totally and temporarily disabled for a continual period of one year or more, he shall be rated as totally and permanently disabled.
8. Providing that the total permanent disability rating clause be amended to include the loss of the hearing of both ears as permanent and total disability.
9. That in no case shall the compensation of a disabled person be reduced unless a physical examination has been made since the last rating, nor until he shall have been given at least three months' notice mailed to his last address of the bureau's intention to make a reduction.
10. To extend the period from one year after discharge or from August 9, 1922, to August 9, 1926, for obtaining certificates of disability.
11. To make certificates of disability irrevocable.
12. That the date by which government term insurance must be converted to insurance carrying a reserve shall be extended from 1926 to 1931.
13. That an applicant for reinstatement who suffers from a disability of service origin, and who is indigent may reinstate his government insurance and have the lapsed premiums charged against the face of his policy.
14. To make permanent total disability payable to veterans whose insurance has lapsed, where compensation in excess of premiums was due.
15. To make insurance payable to beneficiaries, where a permanent total disabled veteran was denied reinstatement because of his condition, and has since died.
16. To provide that the veterans' bureau shall furnish all patients on discharge from hospital, a statement of the medical finding as to the condition of such patient.

SINGS IN YORK POST REVUE

Miss Nora Sechrist, Vocalist, Assists Pennsylvania Boys in Big Entertainment.

Remembering the cheering effects of soldier shows which enlivened the long, dreary months while the American doughboys were waiting in France for the ship to take them home, American Legion members have established the practice of staging home-talent dramatic productions in all parts of the country.

Miss Nora Sechrist

Assisted by their woman friends and relatives, the Legionnaires have been able to produce some creditable performances. Among the productions of 1923 was the American Legion Revue, held by the post at York, Pa.

Miss Nora Sechrist, who sang the leading role in the 1921 and 1922 revues of the same post, consented to assist the Legionnaires by starring in the 1923 performance.

A Rain Trap.

In a time of distressing drought a harassed amateur agriculturist stepped into a shop and bought a barometer. The clerk was making a few explanations about indications and pressures when the customer interrupted impatiently, saying:

"Yes, yes, that's all right, but what I want to know is how you set the thing when you want it to rain?"—American Legion Weekly.

Fund to Buy Linens.

The Marion County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary in Indianapolis, unanimously voted to raise $2,500 for a memorial fund to buy linens for the first unit of the James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Hospital for Children, now under construction.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sanative Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. ED. BOEHNLEIN, 1130 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache, nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. TAKES REVENGE ON PRISON PAL

Former Convict Trails Cell-Mate Who Duped His Mother When He Got His Liberty.

CAUGHT HIM ON TRAIN

Brooklyn Youth, Released From Prison, Started Out to Locate False Friend Who Took $600 From Mother.

New York.—Simon Hecht, twenty-two years old, of Brooklyn, N. Y., finished a five-year term at Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y., recently, and left prison with but one object in view—to find "Big Ben" Rosenheim.

Ben and Simon had been on the same tier at Sing Sing during the few months before Ben was released. What use he made of his first week of liberty, Simon learned in a letter from his widowed mother. Ben had learned the address from the boy and as soon as he got out he had gone straight to Brooklyn.

"Big Ben" always could put up a front, and Simon's mother is credulous—doubly so when the welfare of Simon is concerned. She never doubted that the opulent stranger who had heard of her boy's sad case in some miraculous manner could obtain Simon's release, just as he said he could, for a retaining fee of a paltry $650.

Wrote Son About It.

The paltry $650 happened to be within a few dollars of the sum Simon's mother had in the savings bank. She made up the rest by borrowing from her neighbors and gave it to "Big Ben." Then she wrote Simon all about it and assured him he would soon be at liberty.

"Big Ben" hadn't even bothered to use another name, and Simon knew too well the use to which the older convict had placed the information he had wormed out of him. When he was released he took the first train for Brooklyn, and almost the first man on the train he saw was "Big Ben." He jumped on his former cell-mate and the train crew then held both until they reached New York, where "Big Ben," arrested, admitted the charge made against him.

Jumped on His Former Cell-Mate.

DEATH CAUSED BY MISTAKE

Drug Firm Pays Widow $7,500 for Misreading of "A" for "I" in Filling Prescription.

Dorchester, Mass.—A mistake in two letters in filling a prescription was the difference between life and death, and it cost the Cole Drug company $7,500 for making the error.

The verdict was awarded by a jury. Five thousand dollars was for the death and $2,500 for the conscious suffering, the jurymen explained. The widow of Paul Valentelli won the verdict.

The fateful letters were "l" and "a." The prescription called for barium sulphate, and barium sulphite was given. The first aids in X-raying when taken internally, but the patient took the second and died in half an hour after intense agony.

Must Pay Alimony to Two Wives.

Chicago.—Frederick Magaw was ordered to pay alimony to both of his wives when he was arrested upon complaint of wife No. 2, who declared he owed her mother a big board bill. Magaw, who formerly earned $1,000 a week, moaned when he was ordered to pay $100 a month to his first wife and $75 a month to his second. He complained that business had fallen off considerably.

Telephone Operator Outwits Tornado.

Dudley, Tex.—G. W. Williams, telephone operator at the exchange here, outwitted a tornado recently. Williams saw the "twister" approaching and telephoned to farmers in its path. The farmers hurried to cyclone cellars and no loss of life was reported. Considerable property damage was done, however.

COLD VICTUALS

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

HANNAH BLAKE'S severe countenance was poked around the corner of the kitchen door. It was drawn into bitter disapproval.

"Miss Selden, there's another one of them critters out yonder."

Jane Selden looked up from the book she was reading; her very blue eyes met the agate-gray ones of her maid. "What are you talking about, Hannah?"

"He's sitting on the barn door fast asleep."

"Is it a cat?" inquired Jane, who loved cats and kittens and dogs.

"It's a man. Yes, Miss Selden, I knew the minute you fed that book agent last week that a whole lot of tramps would come traipsing around. He's there!" she ended tragically.

Jane sighed. "Did you tell him to go away?" she asked hopefully.

Hannah sniffed. "Not a bit of it. How could I know that you didn't want me to take him out a dish of cold baked beans and a slice of prune pie that I baked for myself, nobody here liking it except me."

"Do as you think best, Hannah. Does he seem to be very poor or is he just a common lazy tramp?" Jane asked in a troubled tone.

"I believe he's uncommonly lazy, but I'm taking him the beans and the pie and a cup of coffee."

Jane arose and laid aside her book. "I will take the food to him, Hannah. You have so much to do. It is very kind of you to get it ready for him."

"Folks have got to eat—tramps or what-not," she declared as she gave a flat basket into the hands of her employer. She watched Jane as the slender figure stepped gracefully down the bricked path to the gate of the barnyard, saw her cross the yard and enter the great barn, which had two immense doors, front and back. The tramp was sitting in the back doorway, that overlooked a vast field of weeds and flowers. In the distance was the dim blur of hills.

Jane knew that Hannah's keen ears would be listening for any outcry, so she approached the stranger with the confidence that was born of her native courage and her own pride and glory in labor.

"Did you wish to see any one?" she asked quietly.

The man turned his head and immediately got upon his feet, removing his dusty felt hat.

"Thank you, I merely sat down to rest awhile. I was very tired, and the barn looked cool and the view pleasant." He spoke respectfully and his accent was that of a cultivated man.

Jane hesitated. "My housekeeper came out and saw you asleep; she is very hospitable, and she thought you might be hot and thirsty, so she has sent you out some supper." She placed the basket beside him.

He flushed under the tan, and then a wonderful smile lightened his weary face. "Your housekeeper is a woman in a multitude. Will you tell her that a very hungry man thanks her sincerely? I wonder if there is anything I can do in return? Is there wood to chop, or anything like that?"

"No, thank you," laughed Jane, relieved that the wanderer was of such an amiable type. "You are enjoying the beautiful view of the hills?"

"Yes. My home is there," he said simply.

"And you are going back again. They will be glad to see you, and you will be happy to get there. Home means so much!"

He looked at her with a strangely thoughtful air. "Yes, my home is there and I should be glad to get back if it were not so lonely."

"I am very sorry," said Jane gently, as she left him to enjoy Hannah's delicious food.

"Well, did he eat the cold victuals?" demanded Hannah as Jane returned to the house.

"I believe he is going to," answered Jane in an absent voice. Later she saw him crossing the field toward the woods that bordered the other side. He could reach the road to the mountains there. "Perhaps some motor car will pick him up," she thought.

Sunday morning Hannah came home from church with a stricken look on her face. Jane, who was suffering from a headache looked her concern.

"What is the matter?"

"Matter enough, ma'am. Do you remember the cold victuals man that you fed in the barn?"

"Yes, what of him?"

"He was at church this morning. Dizzie Carter, who works up at the big house—Hillcrest—says he's Mr. Hill, that millionaire, and she says he wanders all over—loves to tramp the country over—and good land, Miss Jane, here he comes now! See the handsome automobile out there."

An hour later Hannah peered from a window and saw him drive away. She saw his last backward look at the little house.

"He will come again and again, and then there'll be wedding bells for Miss Jane, all because of me and the cold victuals!"

And that was the way it happened, after all.

What a Shame!

"Dubson doesn't like his new car."

"Is that so? What's the matter with it?"

"He has to throw it in low gear before he can plow through the pedestrians."

OVER THE COUNTY

It is said there has been more sickness in Centre County this winter than at any time since 1918.

The Northern conference of the Central Penna. Synod of the Lutheran church will meet in the Lutheran church in Spring Mills on May 21 22 and 23, 1923.

Rev. and Mrs. M. C. Drumm, of Centre Hall, invited a number of guests to help their little daughter, Anna May, observe her second birthday anniversary on March 8.

Two Virginia men who are visiting with their sister, Mrs. W. W. Braucht, of Cobarn, are: Harper and Clark Woodie, of Arborville. They expect to remain in Penn's valley for about a month.

Millheim borough council has received a new fire hose nozzle with a cut off and spray attachment. It is said the new nozzle will enable the firemen to prevent a lot of damage to property by shutting off the water as soon as it is found the fire is under control.

Ira Shultz, who resides on his mother's farm at Spring Bank, was in Millheim one day recently and had 10 grey fox scalps probated by Harry J. Wingard, game protector. Mr. Shultz shot most of the foxes in the light of the moon when he went to wait for them to come his way.

Mrs. Lucy Henney, of Centre Hall, is making progress in developing a flock of Kerlin quality S. C. White Leghorns to a high egg production. She believes in early rising and every morning at 6 o'clock turns a switch that lights the hen house, bringing the biddies from their roost to exercise, claimed to be a help where eggs are desired.

Robins are becoming more numerous each day.

The Centre Hall High school pupils won from the Millheim High school recently in a spelling contest.

A meeting of the Penn's Valley Fish & Game Protective Asso. was held in the Woodmen club rooms in Millheim on Tuesday evening.

One of the big farm sales of the season was that of H. G. Stover, near Woodward. The total was $4,983 28, Horses, cattle and hogs sold at good prices, but implements did not sell so well.

An examination to be held at Coburn on April 7, relative to filling a contemplated vacancy as postmaster at Rebersburg, is announced. The postmaster at Rebersburg last year received $873.

Millheim High school debaters won at Centre Hall High school recently. The question was, "Resolved,—That England Should Grant Complete Freedom to Ireland." Millheim had the affirmative and the judges awarded them winners by a 2 to 1 decision.

Paul Musser, big league baseball player, after spending a few months at his parental home in Millheim, has returned to Wichita, Kans., where he will play again this year. Musser is a classy twirler and he helped his home town team make an enviable record last fall, claiming the honors for Centre County.

So successful has been the operation of the silk mill at Spring Mills that plans are being considered for installing four machines and employing a considerable number of new operators. To secure the necessary help a bus, carrying girls free between their homes and the silk mill, will be put in operation between Spring Mills and Centre Hall.

BELLEFONTE WON GAME

Philipsburg High Swept Away by Local Team.

The Bellefonte High school basket ball team, in winning trim, swept Philipsburg from their feet in a fast game played in the Bellefonte "Y" on last Friday evening, the final score showing 29—22.

It was a splendid game and one of the best attended of the season. Philipsburg High came with high spirits and went home a crest-fallen crowd. Had the visitors won this game, Philipsburg could easily have ended the season as champions of the Mountain League, but now the title may go to Mount Union, which team was a close competitor.

Bellefonte's team only recently started their winning streak and the week preceding defeated Mount Union, on the latter's floor, easily winning a spectacular game. Such playing from the start would have placed the local High school team with the champions, but it came too late in the season, the early record having been poor.

Philipsburg's crowd, about 130 strong, came over in a train specially chartered for the event. The train arrived here at 7:30 and remained in the railroad yard until after the close of the game, it being near 11 o'clock when it started on the return trip to Philipsburg.

Two of the party who came apparently became rough on the train when they imbibed too freely of "hootch" and broke a window in one of the coaches. When the train reached Bellefonte, the young men, who gave their names as Dunkleson and Crushaw, were taken to the "Mansion on the Hill" and kept in jail a few hours. They settled for what damages they had done, however, and were then discharged to return home.

Preceding the game between the High school teams a good contest was put on by the Philipsburg Juniors team and the Bellefonte Freshmen. The Philipsburg boys won this event by a close score, 13—12

Young People's Conference.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 5, 6 and 7, the leaders of the Young People's work of the Sunday schools of Pennsylvania will meet in Bellefonte. Rev. E. H. Bonsall, State Superintendent of the Young People's work, expects to have 250 people here. These are the leading young people's workers of the state, and it will be a fine thing for Bellefonte to have this large delegation in their midst. The various churches of the town are being asked for entertainment for some of these people. With the exception of two lunches, the meals will be served at the Y. M. C. A. The people of the churches are asked to provide lodging for two nights and lunch for Friday and Saturday.

Farms Seem Well Occupied.

Farms in the vicinity of State College do not seem to be vacant or going a begging for tenants or owners. As a matter of fact they all seem to be occupied and so desirable as investments that owners do not care to sell. This became known on Saturday. A Mr. Nichols, was here from Clearfield and making inquiries as to purchasing a farm convenient to State College. He has some children that are ready to go to college and he wished to purchase the farm and reside on it while the children secured the advantages of an education at State College. However, he was unable to find any farms for sale. There was not one farm in that section that could be secured.

Difference in Roads.

The difference in roads is very evident to the traveling public at this time of the year. The state roads are in good condition and motorists enjoy them, but when side roads must be used they are frequently found in very bad condition—soft, muddy and difficult to drive over, especially with heavy cars. There was little frost in the ground to come out this spring, but the melting of the snow, which was of more than ordinary depth, has had much the same effect on the mud roads.

Look for Plenty of Fruit.

Farmers and fruit growers say that conditions for a good crop this year are favorable. The buds on the fruit trees have not been advanced by early warm weather, for winter, while it has not been severe, has lingered and held close to the freezing point or below. Farmers are pleased with the "wintering" of the wheat which emerged from its deep snow blanket in a splendid condition. The ground contains as much moisture as usual.

Deer in Poor Condition.

Many deer that have been seen recently are very poor, "nothing but skin and bones," according to witnesses, due to the fact that deep snow covered food for such a long period and forced the deer to exist on material that had little nourishment in it. In some sections the deer have been fed and cared for by sportsmen and the fleet, wild creatures have become rather tame in instances. It is believed, however, while the deer have been short of food they have pulled through with little loss of life.

Spring is Here.

Spring is here, officially, at least. It was ushered in yesterday.

STATISTICS ON DEER

Record Give Figures of Interest to Sportsmen.

In 1907, when does and fawns were first protected, only 200 deer were legally killed in Pennsylvania. Since then, under protection, deer have increased so remarkably that more than double this number were killed in Centre County alone last season and the total for the state was 6,115. It should be borne in mind that the number of hunters who took to the woods last year was much larger than the number who hunted in 1907.

Many of the deer killed in 1907 had 4 to 12-points, while last season very few had as many as 4-points. This has led a number of sportsmen to seek a change in the law which will make it illegal to kill spikes, one of their principal claims being that this will be detrimental to the best interests of all hunters.

In 1921 spike bucks constituted 13% of the total killed; in 1922, they constituted 18%. In 1922, 2-point bucks represented 20 5% of the kill. In 1921, the 4-points killed were 45% of the total and in 1922 they were but 36%. These figures indicate the trend and show conclusively that bucks with large antlers are becoming scarce; in fact, the young and vigorous bucks are being killed too closely. The only feasible remedy seems to be a prohibitive law to protect the "baby bucks."

No Action on Dry Bill.

The Pinchot prohibition enforcement bill, which was passed in the Senate at Harrisburg last week, is before the House in the Legislature, but will not be up for final action before next Tuesday. The bill was reported favorably by the Law and Order Committee of the House. The plan to hurry it through to final passage was abandoned because of continued opposition to some of the more drastic features. Opponents of the measure are demanding that the bill be amended in various ways to make it conform to the Volstead law. They object to the way being left open to indiscriminate search of satchels or handbags while persons are traveling in trains or automobiles. The State Council of Republican Women issued a statement on Monday setting forth names of Republican members of the House claimed as pledged to the Governor to support prohibition enforcement legislation. A number whose names were on the published list declared that they had given no such pledge, while others declared that they were in accord with the Pinchot program to abolish saloons, but reserved the right to have their views incorporated in any bill offered or they would not vote for it. Advocates and opponents of the Pinchot bill both claim to have a majority in the House.

Another Dog Killed.

Another stray dog was killed by Thomas Howley, borough policeman, on Monday morning. The dog seemed to be suffering from poison. It was a spotted hound of good size, with no collar or tag, that had been on the streets frequently. As there was no means to identify the animal, it is not known whose dog it was. Five shots from a 45 calibre revolver were fired into the dog's head before it finally gave up the ghost. The last shot deflected and, while it ended the dog's suffering, it also struck the windshield on a nearby parked car and shattered the glass.

Academy in Splendid Game.

Although the Bellefonte Academy team was defeated by the Westmont High basket ball team Friday evening, Prof. J. R. Hughes says: "It was one of the best games on our schedule this season. The score was close, 49—47. Our boys would shoot a long one and then the Westmont boys would equal it. The game was played on the Westmont's High floor, the Y. M. C. A., in Johnstown. They had the advantage of knowing the floor. The Johnstown papers state it was the cleanest and best game of their season.

United Telephone Equipment Sold.

The lines, franchises and equipment of the United Telephone & Telegraph Co., sold at public auction in Sunbury on Saturday by William McCaleb, receiver, which included the property in Centre and adjoining counties, were bid in at approximately $525,000. The lines extend from Chester County to Blair County. The purchaser was William W. Ryan, an attorney of Shamokin. He said the lines had been in receivers' hands for 10 years and the plan is to improve the system.

Spoke to Business Men.

J. B. Payne, of Bellefonte, superintendent of vocational instruction in Centre County schools, spoke to the business men of State College at their meeting on last Thursday evening. The keynote of his address was service. The business men went on record as favoring an improved road through the "Barrens."

Montgomery Won Appeal.

It was learned in Bellefonte last Thursday that the court of appeals in Maryland had given a decision in the case of Jack Montgomery vs. Peggy U'Dell, reversing the lower court and expunging from the records the case as heard in the lower court.

FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Academy Basket Ball Team Plays Bloomsburg Normal March 24.

The Bellefonte Academy basket ball team, which has had a most successful season, will play its final game for the year on Saturday evening, March 24, at 8 o'clock, at the armory. Bloomsburg Normal, which also has put up a fine record for the season, will be the Academy's opponent. The Academy is one of the few teams that has been able to defeat Bloomsburg this year, being the only five to win on Bloomsburg's floor.

Carl Snavely, who has signed up to coach the Academy for the next two years, will visit in Bellefonte over the weekend and will endeavor to give the local quintet some polishing pointers while here. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Snavely.

The coming of Snavely next year to remain heralds a great era in athletics for the Academy, and particularly in football. Snavely is the coach who is given credit for developing Kiski football elevens into such victory-winning machines. His success there has established him as one of the greatest prep school coaches in the country. Coach Warner, famous for his work at Pitt, frequently used Snavely as a scout. He regards him as one of the best developers of football players in the land. Several prep schools were bidding for Snavely's services, but the Academy won out. It is his belief that inside of two years he will make the Academy football eleven one of the top notchers. With this as his goal, it is possible that the Academy team will make a trip to the Pacific coast and play with one of the championship prep elevens there in 1925.

THRESHERMEN TO MEET

Will Consider Some Important Bills on Engines and Motors.

Centre County Threshermen and Farmers Protective Association will meet in the grand jury room in the Court House on Saturday, March 24, at 10 o'clock A. M.

The meeting is called especially to protest to the Legislature now in session against legislation pending.

One bill prohibits cleats on traction engines and another limits weight of traction engines and all motor vehicles.

These two bills would practically put traction engines and motor trucks out of commission. Two other bills, either of which if passed would almost double the cost of compensation insurance to all employers of labor, including farmers, will be considered. The text of these bills will be presented at the meeting and considered as to effect. Every thresherman, sawmill man and farmer should attend.

Meckley Sisters Wed.

The Meckley sisters, Miss Ruth and Miss Mary, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Meckley, of near Bellefonte, were wed this week. Miss Ruth became the bride of Rufus D. Korman, of near Howard, on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the ceremony being performed at the parsonage of the United Brethren church by the pastor, Rev. George E. Smith. On Wednesday evening at a pretty home wedding, Miss Mary became the bride of Russell L. King, of near Bellefonte. Rev. Smith officiated also at this wedding. A delicious supper was served following the ceremony. The friends of these well known young folks join in wishing them much happiness in their new venture.

Warner—Jenkins.

Miss Dorothy R. Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. Katherine and the late W. R. Jenkins, formerly of Bellefonte, but for some years residing in Harrisburg, was married last Saturday to Charles R. Warner, of Detroit, Mich. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. D. Addison Stegel, in Pittsburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Warner will reside at Detroit, where the groom is in the employ of the Ford interests. The bride is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal and is an accomplished musician. She taught music in the public schools for several years, was organist in the Westminster Presbyterian church, at Harrisburg, and held a clerical position with the Commonwealth Trust Co. in that city.

Browne—Schmidt.

Word was received in Bellefonte this week of the marriage during the holidays of Leo Raymond Browne, son of E. A. Browne, formerly of Bellefonte, but now of Johnstown, and Miss Olga Schmidt, of that city. The ceremony was performed in Cumberland, Md., by Father Callaghan. The bride is an accomplished young lady, interested in civic and social work of her city, while the groom is a chemist for the Cambria Steel company. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

Hoy—Datts.

Harry Hoy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hoy, of near Bellefonte, and Miss Alice Datts, of Wilkinsburg, were united in marriage on last Thursday in Wilkinsburg. The groom has been employed in Wilkinsburg for some time. The young couple visited relatives and friends in this section over the weekend, departing on Monday morning for Wilkinsburg, where they will reside. They have the best wishes of "The Republican" and a host of friends.

M. E. MINISTERS

Few Changes in Central Penna. Conference for Coming Year.

Comparatively few changes among ministers for the coming year were made by the Central Penna. Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which concluded its sessions at Harrisburg on Monday. Next year's conference will be held in Williamsport.

Rev. Dr. E. H. Yocum, for some years stationed at Bellefonte, and more recently at Woolrich, has formally retired from actual service. Dr. Yocum was held in sincere affection by thousands of persons identified with all churches.

Changes among pastors in this section included the transfer of R. C. Peters from State College to Hollidaysburg. S. B. Mackie is transferred from Danville to State College. A. A. Price is moved from Clearfield circuit to Howard, and M. S. Q. Mellot goes from the latter place to Morrisdale. W. W. Willard, formerly located at Dudley, goes to Woolrich as Dr. Yocum's successor.

Ministers returned to present charges included Rev. E. E. McKelvey to Bellefonte; Walter H. Williams, to Houtzdale; J. Walter Skillington, to Osceola Mills; Richard S. Oyler, to Philipsburg; James S. Hammond, to Pine Grove Mills; J. P. McCardy, to Sandy Ridge; J. Edward Kahler, to Warriors Mark; Charles E. Catherman to Penns Valley; McKinley Kepler, to Pleasant Gap; C. H. Monroe, to Half Moon; J. F. Andreas, to Milesburg and Unionville; Walter H. Upham, to Port Matilda; John M. Stevens, to Snow Shoe.

State Convention of Music Clubs.

"Our heads are full of business: let's away; advantage feeds them fat!" Central Pennsylvania is to be visited by Olga Samaroff (Mrs. Leopold Stokowski), America's greatest woman pianist, April 10, 11, 12, at State College—not in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh this year—will be held the State convention of Music clubs. A tentative program includes State and District contests for pianists, violinists, vocalists; concerts by the combined musical organizations of the Pennsylvania State College, by State club artists, by young artist winners of the contests; a recital by Madame Marguerite Sylva, soprano, and Robert Armbruster, pianist, assisted by the Duo-Art piano; receptions by the University club and by the Woman's club; a President's luncheon; and at 8 P. M., April 11, a recital by Madame Olga Samaroff, pianist. For this latter event, single tickets will be $1.00; single tickets for each of the other events will be 50 cents, while course tickets for the events of all three days (including Madame Samaroff's recital) will be $1.50. Tickets will be on sale at Blair's jewelry store and at Montgomery's clothing store. To State College, "let's away" on April 10, 11, and 12.

Music Study Club Concert.

Because of its membership in the Federation of Music clubs the Bellefonte organization can offer another unusual opportunity on March 28 in the Presbyterian chapel at 8:15 P. M. This time the artists will come from our state capital. Mrs. Hull, soprano, president of the Wednesday club of Harrisburg and Mrs. Mitchell, pianist, will give a vocal and piano recital. The public is cordially invited to attend this concert. An offering from non-members will be appreciated; for, although there is no charge for the artists, there are some incidental expenses for light, heat, etc.

Finger Caught in Cog Wheels.

Foster Gunsallus, of Nittany, while at work at the Kistler Tannery company's plant in Lock Haven on Monday, had the misfortune to have the fingers on his right hand caught in cogwheels. The fingers were severely lacerated and it was deemed necessary to amputate the middle one, which was done at the Lock Haven hospital, the finger being taken away at the hand.

FORD CAR UPSET

Waite Family, of Beech Creek, Pinned Underneath.

Taking a pleasure ride in their 1922 model Ford touring car, the John W. Waite family, of Beech Creek, was given a close call on Sunday. Their car was upset when struck by a passing car of large size, it is said, while traveling along the highway east of Mill Hall.

After being struck by the large car, the Ford ran up an embankment at the side of the road and overturned, pinning the family underneath it. When the car was raised, it was found that Mrs. Waite had been thrown across her husband, who was under the steering wheel. Passing motorists took Mrs. Waite and the three children to a physician at Mill Hall. The mother had a cut on her head and the youngest child, Lee, a deep gash about two inches long under his left eye. Apparently these were the worst injuries. The number of the large car was not secured, but an effort will be made to learn who the owner of it is.

TO DIRECT WORLD FAIR

Col. Price Jackson Chosen to Manage Exposition in Phila.

Colonel Price Jackson, formerly of State College, has been appointed executive director of the world's fair to be held in Philadelphia in 1926.

Colonel Jackson will take up his new duties immediately. His salary will be $15,000 a year From 1913 until 1919 Colonel Jackson served as commissioner in charge of the Pennsylvania department of labor and industry. After the war he went to Armenia as a member of the American Military Mission to that country. Until recently he has been sta ioned in Washington, acting for public utilities concerns of the country in regard to fuel supply.

Blair County Gets Deer.

Through efforts of Blair County sportsmen and Game Warden Frank A. Myers, of that district, more deer are being put into their hunting grounds. Efforts are being made to trap does in the Seven mountains district and at least one was secured and placed in Blair County. A shipment of three Michigan deer was liberated in a section known as Bob's creek this week. The Michigan deer are much larger than the local specimens and are said to be much stronger. It is expected that they will propagate rapidly in the desirable climate of the Allegheny mountains.

Mrs. Catherine Struble Dead.

Mrs. Catherine Struble died at the home of her son, Howard T., of Zion, early on Wednesday morning. Deceased was the widow of Isaac Struble. She was 85 years old last August. She was born in Union County, but after her marriage, she and Mr. Struble began housekeeping in Nittany valley, where they since then resided until the time of their death. They were successful in farming. Mrs. Struble was a member of the Reformed church at Zion and took an active part in its services until failing health kept her from attending. She is survived by two sons, H. T., of Zion, and Jacob, of Oakland, Cal.; one daughter, Miss Mary, at home; and several brothers and sisters. Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial made at Zion.

John Heckman Dead.

John Heckman, a native of Hublersburg, died at his home near Mackeyville, on Tuesday morning, after a week's illness from pneumonia. He was 69 years old and is survived by his widow and five children. Funeral services will be held from the home on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock and burial made in the cemetery at Hublersburg.

Mrs. Jacob Crider Dead.

Mrs. Emeline Hugg Dead.

Mrs. Emeline Hugg died at her home in Milesburg on Saturday morning about 2 o'clock, from pneumonia. She had been seriously ill for about one week. Mrs. Hugg, whose maiden name was Emeline Brower, was a widow of the late Enoch Hugg, one of Bald Eagle valley's best known citizens. They had resided in Milesburg for about 30 years. They had also resided at various times on the homestead farm in Huston Twp., now tenanted by a son, Harris Hugg; as well as at Fillmore, Marsh Creek and Philipsburg. Had Mrs. Hugg lived until July she would have reached her 81st birthday. Mr. Hugg died about 3 years ago. Surviving are the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Michael Davidson of Philipsburg; Mrs. Henry Witherite, of Tyrone; Harris, of Huston Twp.; Mrs. Walter Smith and Toner A. Hugg, of Milesburg. Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock and burial made in the Advent cemetery. The deceased was a typical woman of pioneer stock, strict in her beliefs, loyal to duty and unflinching in what appeared to her to be the right, a mother whose first interests were for her home and family, to which she was much devoted.

John Curry Dead.

John Curry, of Norristown, died on Saturday morning from hemorrhages. The body was brought to Bellefonte on Monday evening and taken to the home of his parents, William and Mary Curry, on Pine St. Deceased was born at Scotia and was aged 33 years, 3 months and 17 days. He had resided in Norristown for a number of years. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and the Knights of the Golden Eagles lodges. Surviving are his widow, whose maiden name was Annie Heberling; four children—William, Helen, Margaret, Ruth, all at home; his parents and six sisters: Mrs. James Bailey, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Harry Dorman, of Pleasant Gap; Mrs. Boyd Rossman and Mrs. Paul Rossman, of Tyrone; Mrs. John Steele, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Edward McCulley, of Altoona. Burial was made in Gray's cemetery at Stormstown.

Mrs. Harriet Rowley Dead.

Mrs. Harriet Rowley, formerly a resident of Bellefonte and of Snow Shoe, died at her home in Tyrone on last Friday morning at 6:15 o'clock. She was a daughter of John and Mary Mayes and was born in Penn's valley on July 18, 1848. On April 30, 1868, Miss Harriet Mayes became the wife of Seeley B. Rowley, who preceded her to the grave in 1882. In 1907, Mrs. Rowley went to Tyrone to reside. She is survived by the following sons and daughters: John A., of Tyrone; W. H., of Altoona; Mrs. John Gensler, of East Altoona; Mrs. Reuben Miller and Mrs. Walter Gunsallus, of Northwood. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Anna Mills, of Bellefonte. The body was taken to Snow Shoe and burial made in Askey's cemetery.

Mrs. Henry Steinkirchner Dead.

Mrs. Henry Steinkirchner, who was born and raised in AxeMann, died at the hospital in Wichita, Kans., on Sunday, from diabetes. Deceased was 65 years old and had been in the west for about 40 years. Her home was in Newton, Kans. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin McGowan, her maiden name was Elizabeth McGowan. Her husband preceded her to the grave about 5 years ago. Surviving are the following children: Leo, Mrs. J. A. Elliot, Bernard, Arthur, Eva and Henry, all of Newton, Kans; Mrs. John Stein, Ocean Park, Cal.; Mrs. Marion Reid, Concordia, Kans.; two brothers and one sister: William McGowan, of Bellefonte; Frank and Mrs. Frank Felix, of Newton, Kans. Burial was made at Newton on Wednesday.

Mrs. A. G. Wasson Dead.

WHY, a brick fell from the third floor of a new building and connected with my head. In a hospital for a long time with a cracked skull, fever, delirious, and heaven knows what all.

But every month, regular as clockwork, along came a check for $200 from the ÆTNA. You see, my ÆTNA ACCIDENT POLICY calls for $50 weekly while totally disabled, $25 a week while partly out of commission, and also surgeon's fees or hospital bills. Makes it hard for me, eh? Man, I'm an optimist of the purest ray serene.

What did the policy cost? If I told you how little, you'd say I'm still raving. Come up tonight and I'll tell you. So long!

Is It Worth While?

Even in this age of progress we sometimes meet a man who does not keep a bank account. He says, "He does not think it worth while."

Does he think that the rural delivery is worth while—or the telephone—or the automobile. A bank account is of as much importance as these, for in a crisis it may give the help that will enable him to keep his telephone, or his car—even his home

Mrs. Gross Praises Tanlac for Overcoming Stomach Trouble of Long Standing—Says Results Are Priceless.

"Before I took Tanlac I only weighed ninety-four pounds and scarcely had strength to sweep the floor or make the beds; but now I weigh one hundred and thirty-two and am as healthy and happy as can be." This remarkable statement was made, recently, by Mrs. Mabel Gross, 1137 Aldrich St., N., Minneapolis, Minn.

"For nearly two years I had been in a seriously weakened condition and suffered nearly all the time from headache and backache. My nerves were beyond my control and I was terribly dizzy. I couldn't half sleep and my stomach was so out of order that even the sight of food nauseated me.

"The benefits I have received from Tanlac are priceless. I am now a perfectly well woman and my friends often speak of how healthy I look. I certainly have a great deal to praise Tanlac for. Health is worth everything, and that is what Tanlac has meant to me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

WHY TAKE LAXATIVES?

Discovery by Science Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

As Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, it cannot gripe and, like pure water, it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

Wages Endless War on Rodents

Modern Pied Piper Rid the Country of 10,000,000 Rats Last Year, by Government Count.

SAYS PESTS ARE ON INCREASE

Theoretically, if Rat Population Increases in Next 100 Years as It Has in Last 15, the Rat Will Destroy Human Race.

Washington.—The modern Pied Piper, J. L. Nicholes, was in town the other day, and he brought the sad news that rats are on the increase. Even with all the rat-killing campaigns, and with the interest of the public aroused, these pests are flourishing. Rats are being killed by the million, but the surviving mothers, sisters and cousins and aunts energetically offset the tribal losses by building up new and widening family circles.

Mr. Nicholes is not a gloom dispenser. For seven years he has conducted rat-killing campaigns. He has swatted the rat cheerfully and with telling effect. He says that last year he rid the country of 10,000,000 rats, by government count. But the outlook is that, theoretically, if the rat population increases for the next 100 years as it has in the last 15 years, the rat will destroy the human race.

They Are Costly "Pets."

Mr. Nicholes says that in 1910 rats in the United States destroyed $80,000,000 worth of food and other property. In 1916 the amount was $180,000,000; in 1919, $300,000,000, and this year rats are expected to do $1,000,000,000 worth of damage.

And that is not the worst of rats as pests. They are among the most efficient disease carriers that we have. They have taken the bubonic plague all over the world. Their connection with typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria, meningitis and tuberculosis is also being investigated. Rats are flea-infested creatures, and that alone makes them both dirty and dangerous. They are pests to be attacked relentlessly.

This modern Pied Piper has no pipe, and he has never tried charming rats with music. But he has studied rat character and intelligence, and he applies his knowledge to bring about the rat's downfall. After hearing Mr. Nicholes talk about their cleverness, it seems likely that rats have changed since the Hamelin town Pied Piper story. The rats of 1281 never hesitated in following magic tune, we are told. But you cannot help fancying that the 1922 rat would merely have smiled impudently at the piper and have wrapped his tail securely about his ears to shut out the dangerous notes.

Mr. Nicholes says that rats distinguish between different colors. If bait is put on a number of papers, some red, some white, and some blue, the rats will eat the food on one kind of paper and will avoid the other colors. Presumably they try one type of food, and if that seems satisfactory they continue to eat as long as it lasts. If they try the bait on blue paper and like that they will ignore the red and white paper and eat only the blue.

Most Cunning of Animals.

Rats are the most cunning of animals, Mr. Nicholes says. He tells of a case in which a basement was overrun with rats which were almost tame. One day a trap was set in the basement. A rat ran along the floor directly toward the trap. Suddenly he saw the danger and tried to stop so quickly that he slid on his haunches and caught himself only a few inches from the trap door. He scampered away hastily, and evidently spread the exciting news of the trap, for no more rats came out all afternoon.

That rodents warn one another of danger is further shown by Mr. Nicholes in a story of Lexington market. Several years ago Mr. Nicholes conducted a rat-killing campaign in Baltimore, and cleared this market of 1,500 rats. For a year, which is about six rat generations, there were no more rats in the market. It may be that the survivors told all of their friends about the terrible massacre of the market place. After that the fear wore off, or else the tradition became lost, for the market had to be cleaned out again not long ago.

However the news of danger is spread, it is evident that rats do possess a degree of intelligence which helps them to avoid danger. They are anything but gullible, and this makes the problem of destroying them the more troublesome. They quite often avoid traps. Predatory animals, such as cats and ferrets, cannot as a rule be used to kill them off in large numbers. Poison, carefully and properly used, is the most effective means of disposing of them on a wholesale scale.

Mr. Nicholes uses barium carbonate, which is tasteless and odorless. Its action upon rats is slow, so that poisoned animals generally leave a house or barn in search of water, and the small quantities used to bait food for rats are not often sufficient to kill other creatures.

Three Kinds of Bait Used.

The American Pied Piper carries his reasoning about rat intelligence over into his work of poisoning the pests. He knows that rats are suspicious, and so he uses three kinds of bait, perhaps cheese, apples and hamburger steak. The rodents do not seem to be able to suspect danger in as many as three kinds of food at one time.

Food is placed not less than five nor more than fifteen feet apart in baiting an area. No special effort is made to avoid handling the bait. A wild animal might be warned by the association of a human being with the food, but a rat is domesticated. The scent of man is attached to much of the food it eats regularly.

The rat brain seems to work something like this: The first rat comes out and finds a piece of poisoned food. He sniffs it suspiciously and decides it might be dangerous. He goes a little farther and finds a different kind of food. The first kind he avoided as dangerous. He tries the second and apparently it is all right. Other rats follow the example of the discoverer of the food. A banquet follows, and then wholesale tragedy.

15,000 on One Farm.

The scale on which an expert rat killer works may be imagined from the following case: A Louisiana farm five miles square was so overrun by rats that nothing could be successfully grown on it. Mr. Nicholes took 16 barrels of sweet potatoes, 16 cream cheeses and an entire cow and baited drain ditches for a length of two miles. The result was that 15,000 rats died that night.

In spite of such sweeping destruction no community has ever been entirely cleaned of rats. A 75 per cent death rate is about the best record made when a city conducted a rat-killing campaign. Some rats escape to the country and come back later, and some buildings are not cleaned at all.

It is not enough for one or two people in a town to fight rats for a week. The entire community must join in the battle and continue the attack after a campaign is over. Houses should be rat-proofed, food shut up in rat-proof containers and refuse cans kept covered.

This appears to be good advice when it is known that each rat costs somebody half a cent a day, or $1.82 a year. In inland cities there are now two rats to each person, Mr. Nicholes figures. In seaports the proportion is four rats to each person and in the country eight. The burden of supporting these parasites falls on the human race, and evidently people are making it easier, rather than harder, for rats to get a living, for Mr. Nicholes reports that rats are not only increasing in numbers; they are getting fat.—Chicago Daily News.

FIND JEWELS IN INDIAN MOUND

Diggers Find 300-Pearl Necklace Worth $15,000 and 14-Inch Ceremonial Quartz Spearhead.

Chillicothe, O.—A necklace valued at $15,000 and containing 300 fresh-water pearls has been dug out of the Hopewell Indian mound, near here. In announcing the find recently, Dr. W. C. Mills, head of the state archeological society, declared that the necklace was the first ever found among mound builders' relics.

The gems now are the property of the state. An offer of $15,000 for them was rejected recently. Several of the gems in the string are polished and in excellent condition. The majority are imperfect, however.

At the big Pricer mound, near Bainbridge, another valuable find was made when a ceremonial quartz spearhead 14 inches long was dug up. This is the largest spearhead ever found in Ohio. The valuable relic was washed out of the mound on the property of Mrs. Mary Wood. It is in the possession of a state historical society.

Discovery of a New Valley.

The discoveries of new territory are comparatively few in the United States, owing to the great activity of the geological survey, as well as explorers and mountain climbers. There seems, however, to be an unconquered valley in Siskiyou county, California, "Hidden Valley." G. W. Pellepreau, the discoverer of the valley, said he had glimpsed it from a mountain peak with the aid of a high-powered binoculars. From all reports he believed the valley had never been entered. Some men believe it abounds in game and that mineral deposits are likely to be found. Walls of sharp peaks surround the valley, standing like a barricade against man's advance. Once over the walls, Pellepreau predicts, scaling ropes and ladders will be necessary to get beyond the chasms. He thinks the valley contains 300 acres.—Scientific American.

Canada Offers "Last Chance" for Virgin Farms

THINK of what you could produce on a farm of virgin fertility, without the burden of high-acreage cost. Think of what 20-to-40 bushel wheat would mean to you under these conditions, and of dairying and stock raising on cheap pasture land. Land pays for itself in a few crops—no artificial fertilizer—no heavy investment. You have envied the farmer who got his start when land was cheap. Here's your chance, perhaps your last chance, for the same brand of prosperity.

Western Canada—Your Opportunity!

Western Canada is the farmer's land of opportunity. Thousands of settlers who started not many years ago with little or nothing, are today the owners of fine farms, with comfortable homes and barns, thoro'bred stock, dairy herds—all the marks of prosperity. Yet land is not dear—only $15 to $20 an acre for rich, virgin, prairie convenient to railways. Land is not dear in Western Canada—yet—because there is so much of it. But many settlers are expected in 1923, and now is your opportunity, before the best farms are taken. Get started. Taxes are reduced, not raised, on land brought under cultivation. On farm buildings, improvements, machinery, personal effects, automobile, etc., there is no tax at all. Canada wants workers—it wants its land farmed—and the farmers, through their municipal councils, have practical control of all local taxation.

Special Renter's Plan—Buy Out of Profits

To aid and encourage the honest worker with perhaps little capital, the Canadian Government has a "Renter's Plan", whereby one may work a new or improved farm—"Try it out" for several years if desired—and buy a farm of his own out of profits.

Thirty-Two Years to Pay

For the benefit of those wishing to buy land, a national non-profit sharing organization—the Canada Colonization Association—has been established, with head office at Winnipeg, and United States office at St. Paul. This Association offers selected land convenient to railways—much of it at $15 to $20 per acre—on very small cash payment, no further payment until third year; balance extended over thirty years, but purchaser may pay up and obtain title at any time, if desired. Interest six per cent.

New Language Being Planned

Scientists and Industrial Leaders Indorse the New International Movement.

PHILOLOGISTS ARE AT WORK

Esperanto and Ido Among Those Being Considered for Universal Tongue—Esperanto Makes Greatest Progress in Illiterate Russia.

Washington, D. C.—Linguists and philologists are yielding first place to scientists and industrial leaders in promoting the idea of a universal auxiliary language. This would seem to be the inference from the interest taken in this question by some of the most prominent men in Uncle Sam's corps of scientists.

Some of America's commercial leaders are keeping pace with the men of science. A. C. Bedford, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company, is among those who are taking a keen interest in the question.

The scientists are by no means committed to Esperanto or yet Ido as the universal language of the future. It is with them a question of getting universal agreement on an auxiliary language to aid the transference of thought and knowledge throughout the world, linguistic difficulties being now regarded as the great dividing barrier.

The question is one of the subjects on the agenda of the forthcoming gathering of the international chambers of commerce in Rome.

Cottrell Active in Movement.

Frederick J. Cottrell, inventor of the Cottrell precipitation process, now in charge of the government's fixed nitrogen laboratory, has been prominent in bringing the learned scientific and literary bodies of the country to a recognition of the importance of the question.

The last thing one would expect the bureau of standards to be taking an interest in is the question of an auxiliary language. The average man thinks of this highly specialized body as dealing with millimeters, calories, wave lengths and atoms. Yet S. W. Stratton, former chief of the bureau, is the head of a permanent committee of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, appointed to keep in touch with the world progress of a universal language and to make recommendations from time to time.

The following other academic bodies in the United States have appointed committees: The American Council on Education, American Classical League, American Philological association and the National Research council.

The aim of the standing committee of the American Association for the Advancement of Science is, first, to make a searching fundamental study of the principles involved in a universal auxiliary language, and, second, to bring about an authoritative international agreement both as to linguistic details and as to the practical measures to be taken.

Framework by Linguists.

Scientists recognize that linguists must work out the general framework of fact and interpretation in a new language. The importance of the man of science, such as the physicist, for instance, lies in his particular aptitude for recording and analyzing sounds in speech, just as the psychologists must aid in the measurement of mental phenomena.

Science and technology has also a special field of its own in the working out of technical vocabularies. It is from the standpoint of unification and standardization of the tools of thought that the bureau of standards might naturally be expected to approach the question.

"All the sciences, said a resolution of the American association's committee, "are alike interested in unifying the fundamental tools of thought and have been notably successful in so doing with respect to our system of numbers, the arabic numerals, the metric system, the measurement of latitude and longitude, angular divisions, mathematical symbols, chemical formulae, time and the calendar, notation in music and other technical usages."

Considerable attention has been given the question of an auxiliary language by the League of Nations. Lord Robert Cecil was a member of a committee appointed by the league to consider the question. The consideration that the league gave it was based on the promise that a universal means of communication would as time went on decrease the possibility of international misunderstanding.

The Bolsheviki were quick to seize on this aspect of a universal language. Esperanto has made the greatest progress in the last few years in illiterate Russia and in territory continguous to Russia.

In indorsing the movement for a common tongue the Soviets sought to bring the proletariat of all countries together, the idea being to link them up by means of a common language.

Railroad Man Falls 75 Feet and Only Cuts Chin

William Civin, a brakeman on a Pennsylvania freight train, fell 75 feet off a railroad bridge across the Whitewater river at Richmond, Ind., into three feet of water and suffered only a slight scratch on his chin and a bad shaking.

In a dense fog, Civin stepped off the caboose into space. He waded out and climbed up the river bank without aid.

POEM IDENTIFIES DEAD MAN

Widow of American Soldier Also Claims Trinkets as Those of Her Husband.

Washington.—A typewritten poem found on the body of an American soldier killed near Binarville, France, proved the means of identifying the body as that of Thomas O'Keefe, Company D, Three Hundred Sixth machine gun battalion, Seventy-seventh division.

By tracing the poem to its author and checking over the lists of the Twenty-seventh and Seventy-seventh divisions, searchers ultimately found the widow of the missing soldier, who positively identified other articles found on the body.

There were found, in addition to the typewritten poem, a few coins, a book with the penciled notations, "Nevada Consolidated Copper company" and "Still Water Gazette"; also a ring engraved "T. O'K." All these articles were preserved and the army machinery for identification of the unknown dead in France began its work.

State Park Idea Spreading Fast

Movement for Open Play Spaces Has Taken Remarkable Hold Within Past Few Years.

LITTLE KNOWN ABOUT THEM

State Parks Are Pocket Editions of Our Great National Park System—Many Planned to Preserve Historic Places.

What do you know about your state parks?

Washington.—What is a state park?

Announcement that the third annual conference of state parks will be held at Turkey Run state park, Indiana, May 7, 8 and 9, gives rise to the question.

"You will search most reference books in vain for any information about state parks, an important fact that every thinking American citizen should know," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society, "though there you will find ample mention of national parks and city parks.

"State parks are pocket editions of our great national park system.

"They are the stop-over places of the motorist.

"They perch on barren peaks and preserve tree-bowered lovers' lanes beside running brooks.

"They take in such shrines as Lincoln's birthplace and James Whitcomb Riley's 'old swimmin' hole.'

"They perpetuate far older history than that to be found in history textbooks. Starved Rock park, Illinois, commemorates the time when America's inland was a sea; when the cosmic happenings of millions of years ago deposited the shells and precipitated the lime which formed the magnesium limestone layer of this region.

"Prairie Land to Fairyland."

"Iowa invited its citizens to an hour's auto ride from 'prairie land to fairyland.'

"In Wisconsin you can rent an island for $10 a year.

"State parks save the open play spaces amid dense populations of the East and they keep out encroaching farm lands of the Middle West.

"Rip Van Winkle sought surcease in skittles from a shrewish spouse, but the city man today, harried by a hundred worries, can take wife and children for a 48-hours' rest to the hills where Rip retreated.

"If this sounds like rhapsody—that's what state parks still afford to routine-ridden city dwellers.

"Our own parks bear evidence of our new governmental ideal. Originally a park, says Noah Webster, was 'an inclosed piece of ground stocked with beasts of the chase, held by prescription or the king's grant.'

"Today a park might be defined as 'an uninclosed piece of ground stocked with beasts, not to be chased, or killed, held by prescription of the people for their own use.'

"Nobody knows exactly how many state parks there are in 1923. Two years ago a survey by the national park service showed that 26 states had state parks. The movement has taken such a hold within the last few years that the park area within those states has expanded materially and other states have embarked upon park programs.

"Niagara falls is nationally known as scenery, and also as a controversy, but, in the history of the park movement, Niagara is a precedent.

"Hartford has a park which is an early example of the best sort of civic publicity and also established a park precedent. Search your memory and see whether you have not forgotten most of the statistics and slogans which greet you upon huge signboards placed along the railway tracks by trade bodies of many enterprising cities. But nobody who has entered Hartford by train, in daylight, is likely to forget the sylvan beauty of Bushnell park, which adjoins the station with the tree-shaded Connecticut capitol building set on its central hill.

"Horace Bushnell worked for five years to persuade his neighbors to tax themselves to buy this tract. Thus Bushnell park is a monument marking the first time in history when the people bought a tract with their own money to be used as a public park.

A Reversal of Purpose.

"Exactly opposite to the days when feudal barons used a park to keep the public out is the era when the essential element of a park is that King Auto and Sovereign Pedestrian must have easy access. Colorado proclaims that she has a motorists' camp in every town of a thousand or more people. Iowa avers that she has more camp sites per capita than any other state.

"New York, with 40 reservations, comprising 2,000,000 acres, heads the list of states in the extent of her park system.

"Turkey Run state park, Indiana, where the coming conference will be held, is a last stand of the primeval forest which once covered practically all the Hoosier state. It is especially rich in the yellow poplar or tulip tree of Indiana, the sycamore and the black walnut. It has a modern hotel, electrically equipped, modern plumbing and a steam heating system.

Suggested as Summer White House

Submitted to the authorities in Washington as a possible summer White House is the beautiful Stotesbury estate at Spring Valley, not many miles distant from Baltimore. The estate was formerly occupied by Walter B. Brooks, Jr., having been a wedding present to his former wife, who was Miss Louise Cromwell, stepdaughter of E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia. The estate includes 68 acres, with three tenant houses, barns, garages and stables. The house has 40 rooms and the original cost of construction was over $250,000; the land is valued at $50,000.

Museum Devoted to Indian Life.

For the purpose of studying the aborigines of the Americas, a new museum has been erected in New York city, where investigations of Indian life may be conducted. The institution, which already contains 1,800,000 specimens of aboriginal life on this continent, is the only one in the world devoted exclusively to the preservation of the records of those early races; and one of its chief aims will be to discover the origin of the red man.

Grocery Mortality High.

The average grocery store in the United States changes hands every seven years. Of the men who enter the grocery business, 5 per cent are successful, 15 per cent stagger along the ragged edge, and 80 per cent go out of business in seven years.—McClure's Magazine.

Mrs. Elmira Bradford

Health is Your Most Valuable Asset

Pittsburgh (North Side), Pa.—"When I reached middle life I became in a nervous, hysterical condition with despondent spells and frequent heat flashes, also pains in my right side. I took medicines to relieve me, but not until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription did I get any relief whatever, but the Prescription brought me safely thru this critical period just as strong and well as ever. I have no hesitancy whatever in saying that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine in the world for a woman to take throughout this critical period of life."—Mrs. Elmira Bradford, 1202 Palo Alto Street.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has made many women happy by making them healthy. Get it at once from your nearest druggist, in either liquid or tablet form. Write Dr Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free, confidential medical advice.

STUMPT?

FROM childhood up, we meet stumps every day of our lives.

They either stump us, or we stump them. The more successful we are in jumping stumps, the less are we stumpt by stumps.

The most important stumps to watch are those that stump the maintenance of good health.

When Nature sounds her warning and indicates unmistakably the location of a stump—HEED NATURE.

When the mouth tastes bad, breath is foul, stomach distressed, brain foggy, eye dull, remember Beecham's Pills will clear away the stumps of indigestion, constipation and biliousness.

For 80 years this famous family medicine has stumpt disorders of stomach, liver and bowels to hold their grip on man, woman or child.
